Newark State Dedicates D'Angola Gymnasium

The dedication of the Newark State College Gymnasium in honor of the late Joseph Alfred D'Angola, former head of the Physical Education department at Newark State, will be tomorrow, May 12 at 10:30 a.m. The dedication will honor two great leaders in Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D'Angola for their contributions in promoting physical and mental awareness in beginning teachers.

The Dedication Ceremony will open with the Star Spangled Banner and Minuet Dillersdorf by the College Orchestra. Greeting addresses will be given by Mr. August Iannarone, Newark State alumnus; Mrs. Mary Bartlett, President, Newark State Faculty Association; Mr. Luther M. Lindenmuth, Principal Forester, Department of Conservation and Economics; and Mr. Earl E. Mosier, Assistant Commissioner of Education in charge of Higher Education.

The Dedication address will be delivered by President Eugene Wilkens followed by the dedication of the D'Angola Gymnasium by Mrs. Edward L. Kalzenbach, President of the State Board of Education.

The College Chorus will close the Dedication Ceremony with the singing of "The Omnipotence" by Schubert and the Alma Mater.

Math Conference At N. S. C.

The Mathematics Conference of the Association of Mathematics Teachers of New Jersey held at Newark State on May 2 was attended by approximately 400 students and teachers, ranging in interests from the elementary through college levels.

Mr. John Dickey presided over the arithmetic demonstration lessons. Miss Ellen Motoviloff, a Newark State senior, taught an exhibition fifth grade lesson. Dr. Le Roy Johnson presided over the other elementary session at which the Cuisenarie-Gattegno method of teaching arithmetic was demonstrated. Mr. Harold Stephens presented a lecture on the topic "Modern Methods In Secondary Mathematics." Dr. George McMeen was program chairman for the conference and presided over the joint session held in the gymnasium. Dr. Ernest R. Ranucci served on the program committee and helped arrange the exhibit in the College Center.

A number of Newark State students were involved in helping to make the convention a success. Those involved were Clifford Jahn, Ann Marie Ilaria, Vincent Meola, Alex Nagy, Bob Seale, Angelo Segalla, Lucy Jajosky and Judy Roberts.

At the business meeting preceding the program, a resolution pledging the support of the association for the passage of the College bond issue was unanimously adopted.

Last Lecture:

Mrs. Roosevelt Cites U. S. Responsibilities

The fourth and final program of this year's M. Ernest Townsend Memorial Lecture Series presented Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, speaking on the topic "Is America Facing World Leadership?" Mrs. Roosevelt was introduced by the Honorable F. Edward Biertemphel, mayor of Union who presented her with a gold key from the township.

In her talk, Mrs. Roosevelt noted the background of the financial situation during the Second World War and then went on to explain how it was inevitable that the United States with its financial power and natural resources should acquire the position of Leadership: European countries had war on their soil; it was their factories and homes and farms that had been destroyed. The United States was untouched, prosperous, economically stable. Europe had only one place to turn for aid — the United States. At times, it seemed as though Mrs. Roosevelt were asking if this country were facing up to world leadership.

She made reference to the race problem here and how it is magnified abroad, using the case of the Indian representative in Texas as a small incident which in Africa and Asia reached exaggerated proportions. Pointing out that the white race is a minority in this world, she asked how the African nations could look to this country to be treated as equals if color barriers seriously affect our relationship with people.

Mrs. Roosevelt stressed that we waste human potential while Russia utilizes every ounce of that premium. One way she does this is by training her professional people to speak several foreign languages; the government subsidizes this extra-lingual study. When all positions for these professional people are filled in Russia, the people are delegated to other countries (knowing that language), there to assume a position and spread their philosophy. She had much to say about her last trip to Russia and her meeting with Nikita Krushchev.

Mrs. Roosevelt expressed an opinion counter to the popular one when she proclaimed the youth of our country adventurous, that they are not as concerned with security as is generally believed.

Mrs. Roosevelt concluded her speech by urging America to realize her responsibilities. Only in this way, she ended, can we maintain our position as world leader.

Prom Planned

It's been said that in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of baseball, but here at Newark State the Juniors have turned their thoughts to the Junior Prom. Final arrangements have been completed for the big evening, Saturday, May 16, from 7:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Jack Mott, Junior Class President, announced that this year's theme will be "The World's Fair."

There will be a roast-beef-plus-the-trimmings dinner served to the formally dressed couples from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. in four gaily decorated rooms with atmospheres to suit anyone's taste: Oriental, French, Latin American, and German.

Following the meal there will be continuous dancing to the music of Ray Masters and his ten piece orchestra in the cafeteria. Intermission music will be supplied by the Les Blasi trio.

Bids are $10.00 per couple. They may be purchased in the College Center Lobby any day until Friday, May 15, or those interested may see Jack Mott or any of the other Junior class officers.

TO ALL CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS IN THE COLLEGE!

Names of all your newly elected officers for next year MUST be turned in no later than Friday, May 22, 1959, to the Student Organization Office. Failure to do so will result in your organization not being listed in the new student handbook, etc.

J. MINSKOFF

Editorially Speaking:

"Students Face the Communists"

This summer there will occur an event which involves college students throughout the world.

This event, the Vienna Youth Festival, is being met with mixed emotions in American Schools. The National Student Association has officially labeled it a Communist front activity and does not recommend an attendance.

American students who attended a similar meeting in Moscow last year were subsequently deprived of their passports. This year, however, the United States Department of State has initiated a new policy on this issue. Attendance at the Festival is neither condemned nor condoned. Since Austria is not a Communist nation, it would prove embarrassing if the State Department were to prevent students from attending. Of course, among those who will attend will be the usual quota of radicals and saddists but, in large, the students who attend will be those interested in gaining a practical knowledge of Communism, the better to realize the deadly seriousness of the Communist world. From this realization may come a greater understanding and a greater appreciation of American values.

"All Due Praise"

Although the tenor of our recent articles hasn't suggested it strongly, there are times when we feel very proud of our status as students at this college. The past two weeks have given ample corroboration of this.

To begin with, there was the Carnival two weekends ago. As reported in these pages last issue, approximately twelve hundred dollars was realized as profit, and such a sum is not to be noted casually.

The following Tuesday, the Collegium Musicum Chorale, under the direction of the illustrious Mr. James Howe, appeared in the Little Theater. Not the least note-worthy item of the evening was the debut of Dr. McCarthy's "Vignette". A beautiful piece of music, indeed. Congratulations go to Doctor Pat.

On Wednesday, Kappa Delta Pi and CCUN cooperated in presenting a seminar dealing with the study of international relations in the classroom. Our congratulations on this success must go mainly to Katina Pilavakis who serves as campus chairman of CCUN.

On Thursday following, as we all know, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt climaxed the Townsend Memorial Lecture Series for this academic year. Looking back on the visitors we have been honored with this year, we see why we can so readily express our deep appreciation and congratulations to Lenny Bornstein, Tom Merics, and all those others who worked so hard to bring a long-standing dream to such an auspicious fruition.

A week ago Saturday, the New Jersey Association of Mathematics Teachers met at Newark State for their annual spring meeting. That Dr. McMeen should have been elected president of this association for the coming year, and that he should have succeeded in bringing the association here for the meeting, is a tribute to his abilities, a tribute which the Reflector can but poorly second.

Finally, on Tuesday evening last, Mr. Jack Platt brought together the Maplewood Mens Glee Club, the Hyatt-General Motors Glee Club, the Newark State College Glee Club, the Hi-Lows Chorus, and an orchestra for the most thrilling choral concert which we have yet heard here. Many thanks are due Mr. Platt and the groups for their hard work.

Yes, we are proud of our college and proud to be a member thereof.

Busiest Campus Corner

By Roberta Robins

In accordance with tradition and in order to serve the student body, the campus of N.S.C. boasts a building duly tagged Student Center. To quote Peggy Cass, "My dear," what a center! This place holds the interest of the most noted student leaders down to the plain "sit back and take it all in" Agnes Geoches.

Here rests a spot that deserves nothing less than an award declaring it the room most likely to succeed. The snack bar is a conglomeration of hiya's, food gossip, and complaints. During breaks between classes, a hoard of students pour into this area with exasperated looks on their faces. You'd think coffee was the mainstay of life. Food is shelled out in such an amount that one would think man's appetite was like a Dodo bird—never to return.

Because of its strategic location, facing the library, students who usually suppress the need or the desire to study are sometimes seen with a book. However, the book will most assuredly have company—a cup of coffee, a bridge game, or blasting music from a hi fi.

Such fatal attempts at studying are nothing in comparison to attending classes in either the little theatre or the meetings room.

One will always remember listening to Professor Q. Backward's lectures on the methods of providing good classroom lighting, heating, and acoustics as roaring fans (a noble piece of equipment designed to make the student more comfortable) drowned out half his lecture.

Views of a student are now completed. Ten minutes before class begins. Umm, the snack bar is not too crowded. Think I'll get a cup of coffee.

Thaw In The Raw

By Stu Oderman

It was Friday and it was hot. Amidst the heat and humidity Mr. Humus continued his serious lecture on the raising of appendix plants within the confines of a living room. Then he stopped speaking. He closed the well-worn pages of notes and announced to the class that he would sponsor a field trip to Historic Cooty Park. Those aquatic students would be able to swim in Leech Lake. Admission to the park, since it was condemned, was free. However the shortage of leeches was due to the fact that a wealthy manufacturer was considering the idea of using leeches as buttons on winter coats.

We were overjoyed at the suggestion. In fact, three of my dental fillings fell from my mouth as I joined the bunch of students yelling, "Humus! Humus!", as he strode from the classroom and into his office. As I stepped into the street to climb aboard a bus, I tripped and thus released my ice-cream cone, which I fell upon.

"Look at him, a prisoner of the gutter," the bus-driver said as his vehicle pulled away from me with a sudden start and a fanfare of black smoke. I yelled at him in my professional sounding college voice to stop the bus.

"Condemned by every syllable he utters," he yelled back.

The traffic light had changed as the oncoming students trampled upon me, hitting me with cigarette boxes. I mounted the next bus and rode home.

To All Who Helped With The Carnival

Congratulations to the chairmen, the committee members, those who worked at the booths, and all others who helped to make the Carnival the great success that it was!

You have certainly shown us that good spirit, organization, and hard work can accomplish great things. For this, the whole College is indebted to you.

Harriet E. Whiteman
Dean of Students

April 30, 1959

I packed my clothes (not forgetting to include my reversible sweat socks) and telephoned my girl-friend Rosy Quartz. She wished me luck and although she was nibbling on a stalk of celery, managed to send me a kiss over the wire.

Mr. Humus chartered a bus and even brought his camera to be used to take pictures of his students swimming in Leech Lake. When we arrived, we went for a short swim. It was long enough to keep Mr. Humus busy pitching our 14 tents. Even in the water we were screaming, "Humus! Humus!" He loved this sort of thing.

Since this was an experiment in outdoor living, we used Nature as a source for supper. We picked wild berries. One of the students was an asset since he had beri-beri.

Turkish Class PRESENTS . . .

The College Center Series of Newark State College will present a Turkish program this evening, at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre.

The symposium, which is being organized by Mr. Selahattin Erturk and his Turkish class, will feature two professional Turkish dancers who will display various national dances; also appearing will be several professional Turkish musicians who will entertain with traditional Turkish music.

Mr. Erturk, who will be the master of ceremonies, will take part in the program himself, as he plans to read a few poems for the audience. It is also hoped that several of the girls of the Turkish class will be able to take part in the program by rendering two song-and-dance selections.

The group is hoping for a large turnout. In the words of Mr. Erturk, "We are hoping to have our American friends prove that the Little Theatre is too little for such programs!"

Sororities Honor Mothers

Mothers of girls in Alpha Theta Pi sorority will soon be receiving their invitations to the annual Mother and Daughter Tea. This year the tea will be held Thursday, May 14, 1959, in the Faculty Dining Room of the Student Center, at 5 p.m.

Gloria Lennox and Barbara Kugler are co-chairmen of this affair and have planned refreshments and games to assure another successful and memorable afternoon with the mothers.

Nu Theta Chi Sorority is holding its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet on Tuesday, May 12, 1959. The affair will take place at the San Carlos restaurant in Lyndhurst at 6:30.

After cocktails and dinner, entertainment by sorority members will be given for the mothers.

COMMITTEE SUPPORTS BOND ISSUE

The following is a release from the Citizens Committee for College Opportunities:

NEWARK — want your child to go to college?

You should know now that he — or she — may not have a college to attend.

That's what Leonard E. Best, state chairman of the Citizens Committee for College Opportunities here, is busy telling people these days.

It's not that colleges are shrinking — in fact they are expanding frantically, Best pointed out. But something else is growing faster — the number of children who very soon will want to be studying in the classrooms, laboratories, and libraries of these colleges, Best stated.

"Our colleges are crowded now with students who were born from 1937 to 1940, depression years when birth rates stayed under 60,000," he said.

"But in 1947, when today's 12-year olds were born, the birth rate was 106,000. These 12-year olds will be knocking on college doors in 1965."

The birth rate rose sharply during World War II and is still climbing, Best pointed out.

"We all have seen how our elementary and high schools have had to grow to educate these children," he said.

"Soon we'll witness their impact on our colleges."

The State Board of Education, working on the premise that we must act now to have facilities ready for our college-material kids, has recommended passage of the $66,800,000 college bond referendum at the November 3 election. Best's Citizens Committee has organized branches throughout the state to tell voters about the need for the bond issue.

A.S.I.S. Sponsors Summer Hostel

American Student Information Service (A.S.I.S.) has moved into its new office located at Jahnstrasse 56 a, Frankfurt/Main, Germany. Mr. Ramsey V. Harris, Director of A.S.I.S., announced to a group of Frankfurt officials attending the opening ceremony that A.S.I.S. is capable of placing many more students in summer positions in Europe than previously announced in December.

Farm work, hospital construction, child care, and resort positions are among those available in Western European countries. A.S.I.S., a non-profit organization, also helps American students arrange their travel to Europe, provides a mail service, fascinating inside information on Europe, free champagne parties (Ed. note: WOW!) and not-so-free African safaris.

Students who wish to inquire further into these matters should contact Dr. McCreery in the Student Placement Office.

A REVIEW

By Leona Kanter

"Vigenette", a new piece by Dr. Patrick McCarty, as performed by the Pro Art Chamber Orchestra, proved to be a meaningful, moving musical composition. Dr. McCarty's style is warmly reminiscent of Debussy, but he brings to his music a wonderful creativity and originality of sound. This writer was overwhelmed by the sheer beauty of the piece, strangely modern, and yet encompassing the vast heritage and tradition of musical experience. The form and substance of dance coupled with the fluidity of musical sound in this piece would further fortify its meaning, and make of it standard dance repertoire.

Dr. McCarty has the right to consider himself a serious composer. We look forward to his next composition with joyful anticipation.

Alpha Phi Omega Organizes

Alpha Phi Omega, the college service fraternity of the Boy Scouts of America, is now in the process of completing the requirements of re-establishment of a chapter. The next meeting will hold elections of officers, planning of the year's program and final development. Membership is open to all men who have had scout training.

Those males who have a scouting background are urged by the fraternity to keep the scouting ties of brotherhood and friendship strong through Alpha Phi Omega at Newark State College. It was Alpha Phi Omega that handled the parking assignment and the construction of additional booths for the 1959 Carnival.

Juniors Take

A Flier

On May 11 and 12, the juniors in General Elementary Curriculum will take a field trip to Newark Airport.

This trip has a two fold purpose — the first being the gaining of insight in the actual planning of a field trip. The second purpose is to have students participate in an activity outside of school.

This column feels that a pat on the back is in order for acting Coach Bill Vincenti. He has taken over the reigns for the ailing Dr. Errington. "Casey" Vincenti has dipped into his bag of tricks and has won a few ball games. Bill has a major responsibility, which he is handling well. It is his responsibility to take care of the boys, keep them happy and playing at their best. He also has to do his best to keep them healthy. He now has a health problem. Tino Furlano, our speedy centerfielder who injured his ankle sliding against N.C.E., is a doubtful starter for the Paterson game. We feel that Bill will find a capable replacement. Congratulations, Willie, on a job well done!

KRITIK'S KORNER:

"Kritik's Korner" is an addition to the sports page of the Reflector. It is a section devoted to you, the reader. The main objective of this Korner is to allow the followers of athletics at Newark State to voice their own opinions as to the pros and cons of athletics at the college. Many people have objected to various things concerning athletics at the college but none, or very few, have attempted to put their objections into writing. This is your opportunity to do just that. If you have a desire to do so, contact Art Weinfeld at the Reflector office or through the Reflector mailbox.

The first article of this section is a criticism of the student body, including yourself and myself. It refers to that old squawk about "school spirit." How many of you realize that we have a baseball team at this institution? From the turnout at the home games, I would say that there were about ten or twenty students who realized the forementioned fact. The fact about "school spirit" has been a topic of conversation for some time and I will not mention the values of it because you must know them by now.

Two weeks ago a member of the baseball team pitched his heart out in one of the games. He had a no-hitter for six and two-thirds innings, but lost it. We won the game, but more important, this fellow was representing our school. He injured his arm during this game, and will not pitch for the remainder of this season. The total attendance at this game was approximately ten to fifteen people.

Remember this is your team. The fellows are playing for the school, not for themselves. Let's get out to some of the games and show the team that we are behind them. Show a little of that "School Spirit" and support our baseball team! A.W.

Newark Upends J.C., N.C.E.

Alvarez, Mott Star on Mound

By V. Guarino

On Thursday, April 30, Newark State gained its first New Jersey College Baseball Conference victory of the season at beautiful Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City. They combined a furious hitting attack and a splendid 4-hit pitching effort by Manny Alvarez to trounce J.C. 18-3. Newark collected twenty-one hits and scored in every inning but the ninth. Every member of the starting nine hit safely. Cookie Uribe spearheaded the attack with two doubles, a pair of singles and six R.B.I.'s.

Newark started their scoring early, scoring three runs in the first inning. Joe Kaufman started the rally with a single and was followed by walks to Milt Belford and Manny Alvarez. Cookie Uribe cleared the bases when he unloaded a double that rolled to the 397 ft. sign in left center. The Staters has two more three-run innings in their rout.

Meet The Players

By Pete Holt

John Kaufman

John, better known to all as Joe, is an alumnus of Central High in Newark where he participated in track and baseball. Joe, a speedster on the basepaths, made all-city on the diamond. Our flashy second baseman has been a stalwart on Newark's nine for three years. Many a win can be related to Joe's "heads up" playing. While participating in the Newark A League in softball, last summer, Joe led the circuit with a .582 batting average.

Alvarez fanned 13 and held Jersey City hitless until the sixth inning, although the Gothics scored two in the fourth without the benefit of a base hit.

On the following Saturday the Newarkers beat N.C.E. 7-1 in the first game of a scheduled double header behind the five-hit pitching of Jack Mott. Mott struck out seven while walking only one.

Uribe, Alvarez, Kaufman, and Belford continued their steady hitting and Jack Mott continued harassing opposing pitchers with his base stealing.

The Stater's biggest inning was three run third. Milt Belford singled, and went to second on an error. Alvarez singled him home and went to second on the throw-in. Alvarez scored on a single by Cookie Uribe who in turn scored on a double by Jack Gutjahr.

The second game was rained out.

This victory brought Newark's record to 4 wins as opposed to three losses.

Milt Belford

Milt is a Navy veteran who is our starting receiver in his freshman year. Milt is a graduate of Roselle Park High and received county honors while participation at this Group II school. While in high school, Milt participated in football as well as baseball. He was an outstanding guard on the gridiron. While playing for Park, Belford batted .322. Milt is a New York Yankee fan and patterns his play after Yogi Berra. This catcher feels that Newark has a well balanced team but will have to do more hitting. If Milt keeps up his own timely hitting, the last part of the previous statement can be disregarded.
